Transportation

What airport is the best for international arrival?

Most international flights arrive in Buenos Aires at the Ministro Pistarini International Airport (EZE).

Do we need to book domestic flights?

International flights arrive into two Airports in Argentina. Ezeiza (EZE), Ministro Pistarini is the International Airport in Buenos Aires however it is also possible to fly into the domestic airport, Jorge Newberry Airport – Aeroparque (AEP) from abroad. Flying into AEP eliminates the need for a 1 to 1 1/2 hour transfer from EZE to AEP. Most of the Domestic flights from Buenos Aires to Ushuaia (USH) leave from AEP. It is possible also to connect to USH thru EZE but flights are more limited. We would suggest checking with your travel agents for the best prices/connections into Ushuaia from your originating country.

Transfers from Ushuaia Airport, to and from the hotels in Ushuaia are free of charge for the participating teams. Teams must arrange this directly with Diego Linares prior to arrival: email: diego.linares@hotmail.com ♦ +54 9 2901 54 7484.

Accommodation

Teams must book their own accommodations. Hotel Albatros Group, Ushuaia is the official team hotel group for the event. The price is US$ 95 per person/per night with half board based on double occupancy and in compliance with quotas and official NSA team entries.
