

An illustration of a biathlon race. On the left, a red banner with the word 'SHIPS' and the number '72' is visible. The race track is a red line with white arrows indicating the direction of travel. Five athletes are shown in various stages of the race, wearing different colored uniforms (red, yellow, blue, green, and white). They are carrying rifles and are in various positions, some running and some skiing. The background is a light blue sky with white clouds.
